Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP)

Employment and Training (E&T)

January 2019

The SNAP E&T program is funded by the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), Food and Nutrition Services (FNS). Florida's SNAP E&T program is designed to assist eligible SNAP E&T participants obtain skills through education, training, or work experience that will increase self-sufficiency and lead to employment. The Florida Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO), in partnership with the Local Workforce Development Boards (LWDBs), is responsible for the administration of SNAP E&T.

A SNAP E&T participant is an able-bodied adult without dependents (ABAWD) who is required to participate in work activities to maintain eligibility for food assistance.

An ABAWD:

- Is between ages 18 – 49
- Is not in school at least half-time
- Does not work at least 20 hours a week
- Does not earn at least $217.50 a week
- Does not have a documented medical limitation
- Does not meet other criteria, outlined by federal regulations, that prevents them from working

The SNAP E&T program offers ABAWDs the opportunity to meet the mandatory work requirements of the program through participation in qualifying work components available through career centers across the state.

Qualifying work components available to ABAWDs include:

- Job Search (in combination with other activities)
- Job Search Training (in combination with other activities)
- Work Experience
- Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act services
- Trade Adjustment Assistance services
- Education/Vocational Training

SNAP E&T services are available to ABAWDs in all Local Workforce Development Areas.
