The Bureau of Labor Statistics projects a 12% growth rate (faster than the average for all other occupations) in positions seeking diesel service technicians and mechanics between 2014 and 2024. As more freight is shipped across the country, additional diesel-powered trucks will be needed to carry freight where trains and pipelines are not available or economical. Additionally, diesel cars and light trucks are becoming more popular, and more diesel technicians will be needed to maintain and repair these vehicles. Below is the 2017-2018 Regional Demand Occupational List for region 5 showing annual openings for careers where training in the diesel maintenance technician is applicable.
