RECOMMENDED ORDER OF SPECIAL DEPUTY

TO: Assistant Director,
Interim Executive Director,
Unemployment Compensation Services
DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

This matter comes before the undersigned Special Deputy pursuant to the Petitioner's protest of the Respondent's determination dated August 17, 2011.

After due notice to the parties, a telephone hearing was held on April 12, 2012. The Petitioner's owner's wife and the Petitioner's accountant both appeared and testified at the hearing. The Joined Party appeared and testified on her own behalf. A tax specialist II appeared and testified on behalf of the Respondent.

The record of the case, including the recording of the hearing and any exhibits submitted in evidence, is herewith transmitted. Proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law were not received.

Issue:

Whether services performed for the Petitioner by the Joined Party and other individuals constitute insured employment pursuant to Sections 443.036(19), 443.036(21); 443.1216, Florida Statutes, and if so, the effective date of the liability.

Whether the Petitioner meets liability requirements for Florida unemployment compensation contributions, and if so, the effective date of liability, pursuant to Sections 443.036(19); 443.036(21), Florida Statutes.

Findings of Fact:

1. The Petitioner is a subchapter S corporation, incorporated in 2000 for the purpose of running an inspection business.

2. The Petitioner has one corporate officer. The corporate officer has worked six days per week consistently since 2009.
3. The Joined Party provided services as an administrative assistant for the Petitioner from May 31, 2010, through August 31, 2010. The Joined Party responded to an advertisement placed by the Petitioner on Craig's List.
4. The Joined Party was required to report to work from 9am until 5pm, Monday through Friday.
5. The Joined Party's responsibilities included checking for messages, mailing out marketing packets, answering telephones, and scheduling appointments.
6. The Petitioner provided training for how to answer the phone, how to organize appointments, and how to follow scripts. The Petitioner provided scripts which the Joined Party was required to follow.
7. The Joined Party received a weekly pay check. The Joined Party was paid $13 per hour.
8. The Petitioner provided the Joined Party with a workspace, computer, and telephone.

Conclusions of Law:

9. The issue in this case, whether services performed for the Petitioner constitute employment subject to the Florida Unemployment Compensation Law, is governed by Chapter 443, Florida Statutes. Section 443.1216(1)(a)2., Florida Statutes, provides that employment subject to the chapter includes service performed by individuals under the usual common law rules applicable in determining an employer-employee relationship.
10. The Supreme Court of the United States held that the term "usual common law rules" is to be used in a generic sense to mean the "standards developed by the courts through the years of adjudication." United States v. W.M. Webb, Inc., 397 U.S. 179 (1970).
11. The Supreme Court of Florida adopted and approved the tests in 1 Restatement of Law, Agency 2d Section 220 (1958), for use to determine if an employment relationship exists. See Cantor v. Cochran, 184 So.2d 173 (Fla. 1966); Miami Herald Publishing Co. v. Kendall, 88 So.2d 276 (Fla. 1956); Magarian v. Southern Fruit Distributors, 1 So.2d 858 (Fla. 1941); see also Kane Furniture Corp. v. R. Miranda, 506 So.2d 1061 (Fla. 2d DCA 1987).
12. Restatement of Law is a publication, prepared under the auspices of the American Law Institute, which explains the meaning of the law with regard to various court rulings. The Restatement sets forth a nonexclusive list of factors that are to be considered when judging whether a relationship is an employment relationship or an independent contractor relationship.
13. 1 Restatement of Law, Agency 2d Section 220 (1958) provides:
 - (1) A servant is a person employed to perform services for another and who, in the performance of the services, is subject to the other's control or right of control.
 - (2) The following matters of fact, among others, are to be considered:
 - (a) the extent of control which, by the agreement, the business may exercise over the details of the work;
 - (b) whether or not the one employed is engaged in a distinct occupation or business;
 - (c) the kind of occupation, with reference to whether, in the locality, the work is usually done under the direction of the employer or by a specialist without supervision;

- (d) the skill required in the particular occupation;
 - (e) whether the employer or the worker supplies the instrumentalities, tools, and the place of work for the person doing the work;
 - (f) the length of time for which the person is employed;
 - (g) the method of payment, whether by the time or by the job;
 - (h) whether or not the work is a part of the regular business of the employer;
 - (i) whether or not the parties believe they are creating the relation of master and servant;
 - (j) whether the principal is or is not in business.
14. Comments in the Restatement explain that the word “servant” does not exclusively connote manual labor, and the word “employee” has largely replaced “servant” in statutes dealing with various aspects of the working relationship between two parties. In Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services v. Department of Labor & Employment Security, 472 So.2d 1284 (Fla. 1st DCA 1985) the court confirmed that the factors listed in the Restatement are the proper factors to be considered in determining whether an employer-employee relationship exists. However, in citing La Grande v. B&L Services, Inc., 432 So.2d 1364, 1366 (Fla. 1st DCA 1983), the court acknowledged that the question of whether a person is properly classified an employee or an independent contractor often cannot be answered by reference to “hard and fast” rules, but rather must be addressed on a case-by-case basis.
15. The record reflects that the Petitioner exercised control over where, when, and how the work was performed by the Joined Party. The Joined Party worked a set schedule at the Petitioner’s place of business. The Petitioner provided instruction in how each aspect of the job was to be performed in order to meet the Petitioner’s requirements.
16. The Petitioner provided a workspace, telephone, and computer for the Joined Party to perform the work.
17. The Joined Party was paid at an hourly rate. Pay by time tends to indicate an employment relationship.
18. The work performed by the Joined Party as an administrative assistant was a part of the regular course of business for the Petitioner’s inspection company.
19. A preponderance of the evidence presented in this case reveals that the Petitioner established sufficient control over the Joined Party as to create an employer-employee relationship.
20. Section 443.1215, Florida Statutes, provides:
- Each of the following employing units is an employer subject to this chapter:
- i) An employing unit that:
 - a) In a calendar quarter during the current or preceding calendar year paid wages of at least $1,500 for service in employment; or
 - b) For any portion of a day in each of 20 different calendar weeks, regardless of whether the weeks were consecutive, during the current or the preceding calendar year, employed at least one individual in employment, irrespective of whether the same individual was in employment during each day.
21. The Petitioner has one corporate officer. Under Florida Statute, a corporate officer is a statutory employee. The Petitioner’s officer worked six days per week consistently from 2009 through 2012. Accordingly, the Petitioner is an employer subject to liability.

Recommendation: It is recommended that the determination dated August 17, 2011, be AFFIRMED.

Respectfully submitted on May 21, 2012.

KRIS LONKANI, Special Deputy
Office of Appeals
